NCQMA HONORS VT

Salisbury, NC—The North Carolina Quarter Midget Association (NCQMA) located in Salisbury, NC honored the Virginia Tech community, families, and victims on Saturday, April 21st with a moving tribute and a five car formation as the Virginia Tech Fight Song and Lee Greenwood's Proud to be an American played for all to hear.

Each week NCQMA proudly displays the American Flag, the POW-MIA and Troops flag as the National Anthem plays prior to the day's main racing events. NCQMA was honored and moved to pay tribute with not only the 5 car formation of race cars, but also with each race car proudly displaying a VT decal on the car, each driver wore a black arm band, and each parent, grandparent, and spectator received an orange and maroon ribbon all in memory of the lives lost at VT. A large card was displayed for every driver and family to sign, plus a copy of the photo above will be included and sent to VT.

NCQMA's membership includes families from the North Carolina area and beyond with several families from Virginia, two from Roanoke and one from Narrows. Those families, as so many others, were so affected by the tragedy at VT. James Yancey, father of NCQMA competitor Jimmy, is a graduate of VT, and the Cupp family with roots to Blacksburg has a son who attends VT as well.
